

Dear Teacher,

Thank you for the opportunity to visit with you and your students today and share with them about electricity and how it affects their life, who Southern Company is and the jobs we hire for, and how important the job they have at school is.

Our company has invested much time and money on our website called 'Learning Power'. There is an entire section devoted to teachers that includes:

- Lesson Plans/Activities for all grades that comply with National Science Education Standards
- 'Power for Life' course guide, containing activities and instructions for a five hour course on electricity for upper elementary (grades 3-5) and middle school (grades 6-8)
- Free Natural South environmental programs to show your class
- How to schedule a tour of one of our power plants
- Learning assistance programs and educational grants
- Experiment and homework ideas
- Links to effective science websites

For many years we've offered programs to schools to teach about electricity and electric safety. These offerings are modest compared to the millions of dedicated teachers and parents working daily to educate our next generation. We thank you for your dedication and commitment to our children and hope this information will make your job a little easier.

Sincerely,
